Ready to start your career in healthcare?

You are invited to attend a job fair Wednesday May 17, 2023 from 4 pm to 6 pm at the Kauffman Foundation Conference Center (4801 Rockhill Road, Kansas City, MO 64110).

The Kansas City Metropolitan Healthcare Council (KCMHC) in partnership with Real World Learning and KC Scholars would like to connect you to opportunities to continue your education and work with the best healthcare organizations in the Kansas City area.

Why you should attend the Health Careers Job Fair:

- Meet a large variety of employers – and people that can help you with scholarships and sponsorships to continue your education.
- Interview with hospitals and other healthcare providers looking for CNA talent.
- Don't have your CNA? Many of these employers have sponsorship programs to help you achieve that certification at low or no cost.
- Want to get an additional certification or grow your healthcare career? Many have tuition and scholarships available to help you achieve your goals.
- There will also be representatives from other organizations that have scholarships, sponsorships or options to continue your education path in healthcare.

Our goal is to match you with opportunities to grow your career in healthcare without incurring student loan or other debt.

We know schedules are busy this time of year, but please consider attending even if it's only for a short time.

Can't attend? Be sure to register and we will give your information to the healthcare organizations that attend.
